

Join us on SATURDAY MORNING March 10 for a workshop with Beth Proudfoot

If you've ever thought about investing in a trip to a writers conference, this workshop could mean the difference between getting your book published and pouring your money down the drain. Beth Proudfoot, award-winning author and Director of the East of Eden Writers Conference, will give us the inside scoop on which writers conferences to go to, what to bring, and how to use your time and money wisely once you're there. Beth is a professional speaker noted for her engaging, humorous style, and her experience on both sides of the podium will be helpful to anyone wondering if a writers conference is right for them.

Where: Hungry Hunter, 3201 Mt. Diablo Blvd, Lafayette (corner of Pleasant Hill Road)
When: March 10, 2007, from 9 a.m. until 12 Noon - 8:30 a.m. Registration/Continental Breakfast

LOCATION - Hungry Hunter in Lafayette (< click for map)

Return to main page

Questions?/More info Contact Workshop coordinator Igal Levy