The "Present day Fannie Farmer" told us about writing cook books. We also heard about her philosophy of food, her 'beginnings' with James Beard and some tales about teaching cooking.

Marion Cunningham was born in southern California and now lives in Walnut Creek. In addition to her two revisions of The Fannie Farmer Cookbook, she is the author of Cooking with Children, The Supper Book, and The Fannie Farmer Baking Book. She travels frequently throughout the country giving cooking demonstrations, has contributed articles to Bon Appétit, Food & Wine, and Gourmet magazines, and writes a syndicated column for the San Francisco Chronicle and the Los Angeles Times. She has also been a consultant to a number of well-known West Coast restaurants and was the host of a TV series entitled Cunningham & Company.
