

Tips for Good Writing

1. Entice us.
2. Make us curious about your characters and their problems.
3. Let us root for your main character.
4. Tickle our imagination, even if your story is grounded in reality.
5. Have some connection to reality that will help us identify with your characters and their situation.
6. Recognize that tension keeps a story moving forward.
7. Be aware that less is usually more.
8. Remember, only you can tell your stories.
9. Know that we are eager to read your work.